Demand for TVET in ASEAN is considered significant and likely to grow substantially in the future. ASEAN Governments are therefore committing increasing resources into education and training to provide a workforce with the necessary skills needed for business and industry.

Come, be seen, expand your network and get yourself updated on the latest trends through various showcases, world class speakers, activities and social events. Equip yourself with valuable knowledge that you can take back and share with the communities.

There has never been a more important time to cultivate creative thinking in our students, and ourselves as the educators.
